IRON WORKERS START ON THE RAILROAD VIADUCT

Contractor E. H. Dundas and a Force of Men Are Placing Derricks and Making Other Preparations for an Active Campaign—Temporary Western Approach Is to Be Torn Down at a Later Date.

Contractor E. H. Dundas and a force of iron workers arrived from Salt Lake yesterday with a carload of tools and machinery to inaugurate work on the new viaduct across the Southern Pacific yards on Twenty-fourth street.

The work of erecting derricks for handling the heavy structural iron was commenced yesterday and these will be completed and in readiness for business bright and early Monday morning.

Eleven cars of iron and steel have arrived from the east during the present week and the balance of the material is now en route to Ogden and will arrive before it is needed.

To a reporter, Contractor Dundas said that every man who could work to advantage would be employed on the job and it was hoped to complete the structure and have it in readiness for use by the latter part of May—if not before.

A great deal would depend on weather conditions during the next sixty days, but, unless very cold weather prevailed, there would be no cessation of work and everything would be pushed along as fast as possible.

While Contractor Dundas will have charge of construction work generally, the erection of the structure will be under the personal supervision of Resident Engineer A. Q. Campbell, and that fact in itself insures a viaduct that will meet with the requirements of the people of this city and the public generally.

As soon as the railroad yard has been re-arranged, on a prominent basis, the temporary western approach to the viaduct, and with a concrete, iron and steel structure, similar to the eastern approach near the intersection of Twenty-fourth and Wall avenue,

RECEIVER IN CHARGE OF PROPERTY

SUPERIOR BRICK, TILE & MILLING COMPANY IN COURT.

Carl C. Rasmussen Named as Receiver With Bonds Fixed at $5,000—Peter E. Lamar Makes Charges.

The Superior Brick, Tile & Milling company was Friday placed in the hands of a receiver by an order from the judge of the district court. Peter E. Lamar, one of the directors and original stockholders, makes charges against Franklin P. Johnson, the president, and David C. Lawson, the secretary and treasurer.

The company was organized last October, for the purpose of handling cement, clay and other building supplies and to receive contracts for building pavements, roads and other similar undertakings.

Lamar in his complaint asserts that the company has liabilities amounting to $5,000 and insufficient assets on hand to meet those obligations. He charges the officers, President Johnson and Secretary-Treasurer Lawson with being partially responsible for this condition, and asserts that each has submitted claims against the company for large amounts which are not just or proper. The total claim against the company held by the two officials aggregate $2,906.08, according to Lamar's complaint. His demands to inspect the books of the concern have been flatly refused, he says, and the officers have at all times shown a disposition to withhold the affairs of the company from other directors and shareholders.

Lamar says that Johnson and Lawson have practiced force and deceit in the management of the company's affairs and that the claims which they hold against the company, are, to a large extent, for their services in selling the stock.

After the court had investigated the complaint an order was issued appointing Carl C. Rasmussen receiver, after a bond of $5,000 had been filed by himself and the United States Fidelity and Guaranty company as sureties.

JIMMY HOGAN OF OGDEN HAS NARROW ESCAPE

Jimmy Hogan, a well known Ogden boy, has now escaped from the toils of municipal red tape Friday evening by being mistaken for a runaway from Preston, being threatened for a time with arrest.

Jimmy was in the Elite with some friends, having arrived only a few minutes before from Preston where he had been visiting. Night Watchman Pincok entered the place and asked Jimmy if he had come from Preston. The latter replied that he had, whereupon the officer notified him that he was wanted at police headquarters and ordered him to accompany him to the station.

Jimmy was somewhat taken aback at the promptness with which his return home was being officially recognized, and managed to register a hesitating remonstrance with the representative of the law. There was small doubt in the latter's mind but that he had captured the right person, but Jimmy's friends soon came to his rescue and identified him to the officer's satisfaction. It cost the escaped one a treat, however, and numerous jibes from his friends.

It developed later that an old gentleman had notified the police that his two boys had run away from Preston and he was in hopes of finding them here. Soon afterward the officers were notified that a young man had just stepped from the Preston train and was headed up town. Hence the discovery of Hogan and his narrow escape from arrest.

BURGLAR IN A DENTAL OFFICE

INTRUDER MADE A CAREFUL SEARCH FOR VALUABLES.

Marks on the Door Indicate That the Fellow Used a Jimmy and is a Professional.

Dr. Dalrymple's dental office, over the Badcon drug store, was burglarized Friday night, the intruders effecting an entrance to the laboratory and ransacking the establishment. A number of articles were taken, including a pair of large shears, a gold letter-opener, a pair of bow glasses, bone-handled knife marked "W. G. Dalrymple," with the "W. G. Dal" prominent in ink, and a Waterman fountain pen.

The burglar gained an entrance by prying off the lock of the laboratory door which opens directly into the hall. A large steel jimmy was evidently used as the door-jam is deeply scarred for a space of a foot or more along the edge of the door. There are also marks upon the banister rail, evidently made by nails in the visitor's shoes as he stood and looked over the transom.

The drawers of the various articles of furniture were thoroughly examined for valuables, some of them having been carried across the room and examined at a desk.

The safe which stood in the corner apparently was not tampered with, the thief probably not being equipped for safe-blowing.

Dental gold to the value of $5 or more was left untouched in the drawer in which it is usually kept, the compartment being pushed back, partially concealing it from a hasty glance.

The trick was evidently turned by some transient yeggman, equipped for light house-breaking and familiar with the possibilities for a haul in dental offices.

The janitor of the Lewis block states that he was kept busy during the night by unknown prowlers who persisted in rambling about the halls of his building and apparently seeking entrance to some of the offices. It is thought that the latter were concerned in the robbery of Dr. Dalrymple's office later in the night.

AT HIS OFFICE SUNDAY.

Mr. O'Mara will be in his office at the Auditorium on Grant avenue, on Sundays from 1 to 4 p. m. Owing to press of business, impossible to be there through the week. Those having business with him will please call at that time. P. S. O'MARA.

OGDEN OFFICIALS SHOULD BE RELIEVED OF ALL DUTIES

The sermons at the Congregational church during the past week or two have urged the repeal of all laws prohibiting gambling and the social evil on the ground that the citizens of Ogden, by their failure to protest, approve of them. Sunday evening the only available alternative will be presented. The sermon will demand that, unless the foregoing action is taken, the legislature must pass special laws under which Ogden officials will be relieved of the necessity of subscribing to an oath to faithfully perform the duties of their offices.

This will be the last of the series which Mr. Elderkin is addressing to the state legislature.

The choir has arranged for special music and a trio composed of Mrs. Lunbeck, Mrs. Cassidy and Miss Gunnell, will sing. Miss Louise Pierce will play the offertory.

GEO. WILLIAMS BOUND OVER TO DISTRICT COURT

George Williams, the negro who was arrested in Pocatello and brought back to this city by Detective Pender, was arraigned on the charge of burglarizing the house of Mrs. J. H. Perry, on January 4th, and stealing therefrom money to the amount of $22.50. Williams was bound over to the custody of the sheriff, bail being fixed at $500. Detective Pender stated that Williams made a break for liberty from the officer who arrested him at Pocatello, and the latter was forced to fire a number of shots in his direction before bringing him to a halt. He was found hiding in the corner of a box car. While en route to Ogden, and relating the story of his capture, Williams stated that he surrendered on the theory that a live nigger is worth a lot of lead heroes. "Ah shu" though Ah was a gonah when Ah done heard dat feller shootin' at me. He nevah hit me unless it was on muh haid, and dey done bounced off."

Hams stated that he surrendered on the theory that a live nigger is worth a lot of lead heroes. "Ah shu" though Ah was a gonah when Ah done heard dat feller shootin' at me. He nevah hit me unless it was on muh haid, and dey done bounced off."

HANS MADSON DIES AT HOME ON TWELFTH STREET

Hans Madson, father of County Commissioner O. B. Madson, died at his home on West Twelfth street, yesterday at 2:30 o'clock of a severe attack of stomach trouble with which he has been afflicted for some time.

Mr. Madson was 68 years of age and was one of the early pioneers in this section, having come here more than 40 years ago and participated prominently in the early settlement of Utah. He was a friend and co-worker of Lorin Farr and was associated with him in various enterprises in the early days.

Mr. Madson leaves a family of a wife, four sons and one daughter.

JOSEPH AND ANNA IN COURT

THEY ANSWER TO THE CHARGE OF FORGERY.

Girl Supposed to Have Been Led Into Crime by Her Companion—They Are Bound Over.

The police court docket was a mixed one yesterday, the cases ranging from a plain drunk to a woman accused of forgery, and with a vagrancy, peace disturbance, abusive language, burglary and mendicancy mixed in.

Joseph M. Dye and Anna M. Carlson were formally arraigned on the charge of forgery, it being claimed that they attempted to pass a worthless check on George W. Driver. The check for $12 was made payable at the Pioneer National bank to Miss Selma Bloomquist and was signed by "B. B. Wilson."

The defendants were bound over to the custody of the sheriff, bail being fixed at $500 each. It is understood that they will plead not guilty at their preliminary trial. Dye is known to the police as the "would-be officer," having come here some time ago from Nevada, and represented to the chief of police that he was an officer in Nevada and wanted to wear a star while here and assist the police in cleaning the city of its wickedness.

The fellow's companion is a respectable-looking girl, evidently forced upon her own resources in the world and who, in her battle for a livelihood, has fallen in with evil associates and has been finally involved in a serious transaction.

J. J. Downs was charged with drunkenness and pleaded guilty, receiving a fine of $5 or five days.

A. O. Newman, arrested on the charge of using abusive language to a Mrs. Carlson, pleaded guilty and was fined $5 or five days.

John Kalamazoo pleaded guilty to a charge of vagrancy and was given a ten-day sentence on the rock pile.

Frank Moore, the beggar arrested by Officer Burk Friday, pleaded guilty to mendicancy. The court thought the city better rid of him and suspended a 90-day sentence, with orders to leave at once.

T. W. Riley who pleaded not guilty to drunkenness in Friday's court, had his case continued.

GOLDFIELD ENJOYING GREATER ACTIVITY

John Hawley of Goldfield, Nevada, was conferring with Secretary Reynolds of the Weber Club today and incidentally giving his views on the prospects of the famous camp.

"Things have been rather slow for a while," he said, "and I guess they have been something that way here in Ogden. Things have begun to pick up, however, and the outlook is considerably brighter. The big 100-stamp mill of the Consolidated company started up recently and is now handling 600 tons of ore per day. The Florence mill, with a capacity of 350 tons per day, will be started within a few days. Thus, with the five custom mills already in operation there, Goldfield is handling at least 1,000 tons of ore per day."

CHILDREN ARE NATURAL RESOURCES CONSERVED

Chicago, Jan. 23.—An assault on the child labor law of the District of Columbia and an address in which Andrew S. Draper, commissioner of education of the state of New York, pleaded for children to be included in the campaign for conservation of natural resources were features of today's session of the National Child Labor convention. Isaac N. Seligman of New York presided.

"The United States Senate," said Owen R. Lovejoy, "has today a monopoly of child labor. In the senate there are boys working for $75 a month who are only 12 years old. The bill went through the lower house in a form with which little if any fault could be found but it took four years to get it through the senate. When that body got through with it there had been inserted an amendment providing that orphans and children of widows could go to work at the age of 12. Another one passed that in the house and senate pages could be employed."

MRS. J. B. MCKEE IS ASPHYXIATED

Salt Lake, Jan. 23.—In their apartments, at No. 2 The Plaza, at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon, Mrs. Emma Frew McKee was found dead, by her husband, death being caused by asphyxiation, due to gas escaping from the gas range, near which she was found.

Mrs. McKee had just recovered from an attack of smallpox, with which she was stricken several weeks ago, her son James having first fallen a victim to the disease, and was removed to the isolation hospital. While he was there, Mrs. McKee was stricken and she was only released from quarantine five days ago. Her recovery was slow and left her in a weakened condition.
